SHRA members donate £500 to "Save the DGH" fund

At the SHRA Annual General Meeting, which was held on the evening of 1st May at the Haven School in Atlantic Drive, the SHRA Chairman, Rick Runalls, presented a motion from the committee proposing that the Association should make a donation of £500 from its funds to the Save the DGH Campaign's appeal for funds to fight the closure of the Eastbourne Maternity Unit.

The motion was seconded from the floor by South Harbour resident, Bert Leggett, and supported by a number of other members. When put to the vote, the motion was unanimously accepted.

When the Save the DGH Battle Bus came to the Sovereign Harbour Waterfront on 9th May, South Harbour resident and expectant mum, Tonia Mitchell presented a cheque for £500 to Nigel Waterson MP, on behalf of SHRA members, to add to the fighting fund.

Tonia, who is due to give birth to her second child at the DGH in three weeks time said: "I'm so pleased to have been able to be here, it's so important that maternity services are retained in Eastbourne."

SHRA Chairman, Rick Runalls, said: "Our members are very aware of the importance of this campaign and of the consequences for future Eastbourne mothers and babies if the DGH Maternity Unit is closed."

SHRA Annual General Meeting

The SHRA Annual General Meeting, which was held on the evening of 1st May at the Haven School in Atlantic Drive, was well attended.

The SHRA Chairman, Rick Runalls, welcomed the members and presented his annual report into the Association's achievements over the past year and the committee's vision for the future. The full report can be downloaded from the SHRA website, but there were two areas of ongoing concern that Rick felt should be covered at the meeting.

The first area that Rick highlighted was planning, especially the ongoing discussions between Carillion (the land owner) Eastbourne Borough Council and the SHRA on the long awaited Master Plan for remaining Sovereign Harbour development land. He said that those in power had lost control of the developers, and the result was the creation a very large housing estate without any of the basic social infrastructure that should have been provided. It was certainly not what residents thought they were buying into.

The SHRA, he said, was determined that the remaining land should be used to create the work/life environment that we all bought into, and the sustainable community that the planning system is supposed to provide.

Rick explained that the discussions were being held under 'Chatham House' rules, which prevented him from going into detail. He said, however, that when the Master Plan was finally published, it would go to public consultation.

The other issue that Rick thought should be presented was the petition for the formation of a Parish at Sovereign Harbour and the creation of a Community Council. Rick explained that, having collected well over the required number of signatures, the petition had been presented and the process of consultation would start as soon as the Borough Council published the Terms of Reference.

The next item on the agenda was the election of the committee. The constitution provides for a committee of twelve and requires that, should there be more than twelve nominations, an election should be held. In the event, there were just twelve nominations, the ten members of the outgoing committee and two new candidates. According to the constitution, these twelve members were automatically elected to form the new committee. Details can be found on the SHRA website.

As reported on the front page, the members present then voted to make a contribution of £500 to the Save the DGH campaign, following which the meeting was opened for questions.

Not surprisingly, this session was dominated by the petition to form a Community Council, with strong opinions being expressed on both sides of the argument.

Brian Drewett told the meeting that since Premier took over the operation of the marina a real effort had been made to 'tidy-up' the marina environment and suggested that recognition should be given for the work that had been done. There was general agreement and it was agreed that a letter of thanks would be sent.

When asked if the Ward Councillors had been invited to the meeting, Rick said they had not. When asked why not, he explained that there was regrettably no communication between the SHRA committee and the Ward Councillors, so it was considered inappropriate.

It was generally agreed that the situation should not be allowed to continue and Bert Leggett, as chairman of the local Liberal Democrat Association offered to mediate. Rick said that the EBC leader, David Tutt, had twice postponed meetings to discuss the position and he was trying to reschedule. At the time of going to print, the meeting has still not taken place.

The meeting closed at 9:30.

Community Council update

At the April meeting of Eastbourne Borough Council, the members accepted the report by Democratic Services that will start the process of consultation that should lead to the formation of a Community Council for Sovereign Harbour.

Harbour Residents, Ian Weeks, Stewart Mitchell and Rick Runalls, who spoke at the meeting, welcomed the report but expressed their concern that the council's ability to conduct an impartial evaluation of the request could already have been prejudiced by the continuing opposition of the Sovereign Ward councillors and their unsubstantiated claims of 'overwhelming' public support for their position.

Stewart Mitchell told the members that he had personally canvassed the Madeira Way area and had collected 140 signatures for the petition with only two refusals. He said his conviction that there was support for a Community Council was based on his face-to-face experience of talking to residents. He wondered how many doors the Ward Councillors had knocked on.

Council Leader, Cllr. David Tutt assured the speakers that the process would be open and transparent and that the council would work with residents to ensure that their views would be taken into consideration when considering the request. Easy to say, but actions speak louder than words. We look forward to seeing the terms of reference for the consultation and hope that Cllr. Tutt will ensure that any further inappropriate comment is brought to an end until they are published.

Whatever happens, the ball is rolling and the process cannot be stopped. We look forward to an honest debate and hope that those who take part in it will do so with an open mind. We hope that everybody will contribute to the discussion and share their views. Remember, if you don't take part, it's no use complaining if you don't get the result you want and, if you're not on the Electoral Register, you don't get a vote!

New Service for Sovereign Harbour

Following discussions with SHRA committee members and Sovereign Ward's County Councillor, David Elkin, the East Sussex County Council Library and Information Services have offered to provide Sovereign Harbour residents the use of their Mobile Office for two hours every week.

Housed in a smart self-contained van, the Mobile Office contains everything that's needed to help residents get access to the range of services that the team have to offer.

The unit uses satellite technology to link to the ESCC computer system, and the on-board satellite receiver automatically seeks the signal that provides fast Internet access to the unit's five computers.

The very friendly staff are on-hand to provide assistance with library services and help with any local council enquiries and forms.

Users of the service will be given access to e-mail facilities, and there is a tutor who can give instruction in basic IT skills. Don't worry if you've never used a computer before, you will be given all the help you need.

The unit will be parked in the Waterfront car park in the area behind the Carillion Offices, opposite the Yacht Club. You can't miss it, it's very distinctive, as you can see by the photograph opposite.

The first visit will take place on Tuesday 27th May and the staff are really looking forward to showing off the facilities and discussing the services that might be of benefit to you.

Do come along, and be sure to tell your friends, this could be the start of something exciting in your life.

WRAS News (by Trevor Weeks)

The SHRA often gets calls from residents enquiring about the local wildlife, especially when animals are in trouble, so we asked Trevor Weeks, the founder of the East Sussex Wildlife Rescue & Ambulance Service (WRAS) if he would write a column for Waterlines to keep us up to date.

Trevor writes: "I can't believe how busy it is already this year. We are now over the 800 incident mark this year when we are normally at about 500 for this time of year. The past month has been remarkable busy.

WRAS has been contacted by several Sovereign Harbour residents about the nesting swans by the Waterfront. The past couple of years the swans have had problems with the young dying or becoming injured. So this year when they nested residents were obviously worried. WRAS contacted the Department of Environment, Food and Rural Affairs to see if a licence could be applied for to remove the nest to stop the swans from nesting, due to the historic problems they have encountered. Unfortunately she started laying eggs before DEFRA could make a decision.

So now we have no choice in leaving her be and waiting to see what happens. When the youngsters hatch they must be able to get out of the water when they are very young. If they can't they are likely to suffer from hypothermia or drown. We have exactly the same situation happening at Brighton Marina too. We are waiting to see what happens at both sites and will take rescue action if the situation arises.

We have had a swan in from Princes Park recently with a swelling to the side of his face. The swan has a fishing hook embedded in the side of his face. The swan has been operated on to have the hook removed and we hope he will be returning to Eastbourne soon."

WRAS is a voluntary organisation and relies on donations to keep its service on the road. On average a single rescue costs £65. www.wildlifeambulance.org

Harbour sold short on bus service

For some time, residents of the South Harbour have been complaining that their bus service is inadequate for the size of the population and also worse than the service provided to North Harbour Residents. The SHRA has made numerous attempts to get a better service for harbour residents, unfortunately without success. The long awaited North/South bus link seemed to be about the best chance of improving the situation.

Well, the good news is that Eastbourne Buses have at last brought the two services into line.

The very bad news is that the North Harbour service has been reduced to a similar level to that of the South Harbour. The bottom line is that an inadequate service has become even worse and that is unacceptable at a time when we are all being encouraged to use our cars less and use public transport more.

The excuse for service cuts is always that there is insufficient demand, but if the service is inadequate in the first place, there is no incentive for people to use it. Catch 22.

At a time when town centre parking is in chaos and we are all being encouraged to use public transport, this is a crass decision. Could it be that most of those who use the buses from the harbour hold travel cards and don't pay for the service?

Could this be yet another attempt by a cash strapped administration to save money at the expense of those who can least afford it?

Apart from the very poor daytime service, the lack of an evening service means that many harbour residents without private transport are cut off from the town centre in the evenings unless they can afford to pay for taxis. An unwelcome expense for those on fixed incomes.

Harbour residents already have to pay for their own sea defences, the maintenance of a privately operated marina, their own roads, what little open space that has been left, and now it seems they must go without public transport.

Eastbourne Borough Council owns 80% of Eastbourne Buses, and is represented on the board by four members of the council. Sovereign Harbour residents make a significant contribution to the EBC income through our Council Tax and we are already not receiving the services that the rest of the town take for granted.

If you believe that the bus service to the harbour should be improved, please write to your Ward Councillors, councillors Bloom, Morris and Salsbury letting them know how you feel. You might also like to write to the EBC directors of Eastbourne Buses, councillors Thompson (Chairman), Goodyear, Stanley and Taylor.

Neighbourhood Panel (by Jo Roff)

The Sovereign Harbour Neighbourhood Panel now has almost a full team.

Our aim is to address issues mostly about 'law & order' raised by our local community, and, hopefully address them and come to a resolution that keeps everyone happy and safe.

We are aware that we do not necessarily represent the entire population that lives on the Harbour. We would therefore welcome input from anyone between the ages of 5 to 105!

Sovereign Harbour Racing Club (by Linus Gunning)

Due to dwindling support the coach outing to Plumpton Races on 11th May had to be cancelled.

However, about 25 of us travelling by car and public transport enjoyed a fantastic family day out.

Brighton is staging it's annual family day on Sunday July 6th and Glorious Goodwood's family event is on Sunday 24th August.

We are planning to travel by luxury coach to both events.

The price per adult is just £25 including admission to the Grandstands.

And as many as nine under 16 years old will be travelling as our guests at no cost.

Paul and Molly Rhodes will be organizing matters on the North Harbour.

And my wife Margaret will be helping me on the South Harbour.

Based on the past two seasons both these outings will be sellouts.

To confirm your places, please send a cheque to me at 61 Daytona Quay, Eastbourne. BN23 5BN, or phone 470757 or Paul at 479643.

Community Police update (by PC Ed Faulkner)

A shorter update from me this month. Something which has come to the fore recently has been the issue over enforcement of parking in Pacific Drive. I have recently been speaking with both County Council officers and developers over this issue and the position we have agreed is that the enforcement of double yellow lines are the responsibility of the developers, and Police can only issue tickets or remove vehicles where they are causing an unnecessary obstruction or left in a dangerous position.

I know that this is a running problem which we are trying our best to resolve. If I could re-appeal to all road users, especially those with commercial vehicles, to leave them in sensible, safe, and unobstructive positions then this constant problem will hopefully be reduced. Martin, Roy and I will take a proactive stance in dealing with dangerously parked vehicles. As always, please feel free to get in touch with anything you would like to raise.

Harbour W.I. (by Pauline Hale)

Our meeting on Monday 14th April, held at the Sovereign Harbour Yacht Club, was chaired this month by our Treasurer Beryl Lloyd-Jones with our secretary Sue Howcroft. Our President Heather Hyrapiet and the other committee members were absent for various reasons and were greatly missed, because it was a very busy meeting with a large gathering of lady members and visitors – 40 in all, with a few on holidays. Ladies, you were all very welcome and we hope you enjoyed the afternoon and will come again to our meetings. Now that our membership is growing, we will have to consider “conscripting” or requesting a few more ladies to help on our committee, so as to enable our meetings to run smoothly. Perhaps a “clocking in” device would help.

The speaker this month was Mr. E. Thomas, talking about the “Playhouse on the Park”. The history of the Devonshire Theatre, its actors (some famous ones), plays, critics, and the audiences. Our thanks to Mr. Thomas were given by our

The Literary Lunch held at the Hydro Hotel on the 17th April was excellent; food service, presentation, poems and readings.

On Monday 21st April, a craft meeting was held at the Baptist Church hall at Pevensey Bay, just to find out exactly what people wanted to do/learn.

As our first 'Tea Party' on 21st February was so successful, we held another on Wednesday 23rd April, this time at Pablo's restaurant

Our next meeting will be on Monday 16th June. Our speaker will be Judith Kinneson-Bourke - "Dorothy in the Workhouse". Our competition is "Your most treasured old photograph", so search your albums and let's have plenty of entries this month.

So ladies, if you are free on Monday 16th June at 2pm, 2nd floor, Sovereign Harbour Yacht Club, our thanks for the use of their premises, please come and join us. You will be most welcome.

Local help requested, for the protection of rare habitat.

Rare plants and animals that live on the shingle beaches of East Sussex are set to benefit from a new project that will help to protect and enhance their home.

The East Sussex Shingle Project has been launched by East Sussex County Council and is being supported with funding from SITA Trust. It aims to involve local people in protecting, restoring and enjoying this rare habitat.

Vegetated shingle is a globally rare habitat and home to some fascinating species. Because the plants and animals that live there are highly adapted to the harsh coastal conditions, they are only found on shingle beaches. East Sussex is a national stronghold for vegetated shingle habitat.

As part of this project we will be adding to data collected in previous studies, helping to monitor the health of shingle sites throughout the county and nationwide and providing guidance to people on how to appreciate and manage areas of shingle in their local area.

We will require assistance in undertaking shingle surveys along the East Sussex coast, and are requesting volunteer help in this endeavour. We are currently in the process of producing shingle survey packs, and will also be supplying survey and identification training where required.

Anyone wishing to learn more about vegetated shingle or become involved in helping to protect this rare and beautiful ecosystem can contact Tim Smith at East Sussex County Council, Transport & Environment, County Hall, St Anne's Crescent, Lewes, East Sussex, BN7 1UE, or call 01273 482015.
